Final online meeting of the project team

In July, the project team and the critical friends met online for the last time. An insightful exchange about the multiplier events that took place last month in Innsbruck, Valencia, Bergamo and Cologne followed. The project partners shared experiences, thoughts and perspectives gained during their events. The project teams discussed how the project results (online tool, handbook and toolbox) were perceived by the target group present at the events and what feedback they received. The concluding tasks aimed to support the final phase of the project were addressed. The Cologne project team would like to thank the project consortium for the friendly and collegial spirit during the project.
